

LIFE SCIENCES IN THE TORONTO REGION

The Toronto Region provides a fertile ground for exploring emerging technologies and opportunities across the life sciences spectrum

“PILL HILL” TO THE WEST

- 30 multinational pharma and medical companies
- 30+ small and medium biotechnology and medical device companies
- Laboratories, manufacturing and warehousing operations
- University of Toronto — Mississauga, 1 college, 6 hospitals
“Masters of Biotechnology”

HIGH-TECH CAPITAL TO THE NORTH

- Multinational generic, digital, and medical device companies
- Leo Pharma’s new innovation lab focused on health and medtech
- York University, 3 colleges
- Canadian headquarters for ICT leaders such as IBM and Qualcomm
- Neutraceutical and manufacturing operations

BIOTECH RESEARCH HUB

- Major life science and biotech firms including Boehringer Ingelheim, UCB, and WellSpring
- Leading life sciences and biotech research institutions, including McMaster University and Sheridan College

“DISCOVERY DISTRICT” DOWNTOWN

- 9 research hospitals, 10 community hospitals
- 3 universities (including the University of Toronto), 3 colleges, 37 research institutes
- 160 biotechnology and medical device companies

ADVANCED MANUFACTURING TO THE EAST

- Multinational generics and digital companies
- Laboratories, manufacturing and warehousing operations
- Ontario Tech University, Durham College, 3 hospitals